

Kevin M. Bingham, ACAS, MAAA

Principal - Actuarial, Risk & Analytics
Deloitte Consulting LLP

Mr. Bingham has over seventeen years of industry experience, including twelve years in consulting. He currently leads Deloitte Consulting's medical professional liability practice, is the National Partner Sponsor of the Human Capital Analyst (HCA) Program, and Dean of the HCA National School. He is the Chairperson of the American Academy of Actuaries medical malpractice subcommittee, official spokesperson for the American Academy of Actuaries in Washington, advisory board member and chairman of the annual Medical Malpractice ExecuSummit, and is a regular contributor to Contingencies Magazine, Physician Insurer Magazine and other publications on issues facing the financial services industry.

Mr. Bingham's unique role at Deloitte Consulting involves consulting for the insurance consumer, insurance department and the insurance/reinsurance industry, and has given him a broad and comprehensive view on trends affecting all aspects of the insurance purchasing decision. The complex problems appearing during the course of his work experience has provided Kevin with dynamic research opportunities leading to the development of articles, papers and presentations addressing the key issues affecting insurance buyers and sellers. Considered an actuarial expert in the medical professional liability community, Mr. Bingham has been heavily involved in medical liability issues through his work with regulators, associations, captives and insurance companies.

Deloitte Consulting is one of the world's leading consulting firms for business strategy, operations, technology, actuarial and human resource planning. Actuarial, Risk and Analytics (ARA) is one of the largest actuarial and insurance consulting practices globally, specializing in providing advanced analytics, quantification of risk and insurance advisory services across all industries. Working with insurance providers and self-insured organizations in virtually all aspects of insurance, financial services and risk-related issues, ARA provides full service consulting to organizations that purchase, distribute, regulate or provide insurance: Brokers & Program Managers, Insurers & Reinsurers, Third Party Administrators, Self-Insured Organizations, State and Federal Agencies.
