Scott D. Buchholz, Esq. is a partner in the law firm of Dummit, Buchholz & Trapp, having offices throughout the state of California. Mr. Buchholz's practice includes the representation of healthcare related clients in their medical malpractice and other civil litigation. His clients include hospitals, pharmacies, ambulatory care centers, rehabilitation facilities and skilled nursing facilities as well as individually licensed personnel. He is the former president of the San Diego Association of Healthcare Risk Management and a Certified Professional in Healthcare Risk Management by the American Hospital Association.

He received his undergraduate degree from Bucknell University (1981), a graduate degree in economics from the Temple University School of Business Administration (1985) and a law degree from the Rutgers University School of Law (1984).

His firm was started in 1975 specifically to serve the legal needs of California acute care and specialty hospitals. The firm is privileged to handle varied litigation matters for over 80 hospitals in California, along with representing allied healthcare professionals and entities. Dummit, Buchholz & Trapp strives to be the most successful, innovative and efficient healthcare litigation oriented law firm in California.
